Stock Market's Week Marked by Dullness.

EFFECT OF COAL STRIKE

FINANCIAL CONDITIONS FAVOR-ABLE TO VALUES.

JEW YORK, June 7 .- It has been a dull week in the stock market, the volume of dealings for Tuesday running down to the lowest total for any one day in nearly two years. The general choice of the market was one of waiting, but there was evidence of liquidation by some tired holders and the professional element on the exchange were attentative to rumors of the formation of a formidable bear party with a campaign against prices in view. The great bear leaders of past campaigns have been committed to the protection of various important stocks for some time, and this has been an important element in the sense of security in the stability of the market that has been felt. The anthracite coal strike has been a more or less depressing influence and has served to discourage any attempt to advance prices in other parts of the list. There were efforts apparent by pools in one or two cases to advance prices after the first of the week, but the lack of a market to realize on after prices had been lifted discouraged these efforts and the market fell into a state of profound neglect. There can be no question of the heavy loss in earnings avolved in the total shutting down of the anthracite mines and the with drawal of the principal items of traffic from the coal roads. The calling out of the engineers and pumpmen and the struggle on the part of mine owners to keep their pumps running and save the mines from damage by flooding have added to the depressing influence of the strike on values. The in creased bitterness and hostility resulting from the continuance of the struggle has added to the anxiety which it causes. The stocks of the coalers themselves have been well supported and have not suffered acutely, but the effect is potent on the market at large, Whatever expectation was indulged that the declaration of peace in South Africa would result in immediately stimulating the securities market was promptly dissipated on Monday, when it was seen that the order of the day in London was the taking of profits by American holders of British consols. This operation would naturally tend to replenish the supply of sterling ex-change in New York, The higher rate for money which resulted from last week's large loan expansion by the banks was, at the same time, an influence deterrent to making remittances gold, $98,183,536. to foreign markets. Despite this the course of foreign exchange has been upwards, due to demand from bankers to cover maturities on bills sold here before in the course of borrowing in foreign markets. The foreign borrowings by American capitalists were known to be very heavy at this time, and the effect of the maturing of these loans from time to time during the remainder of the year is the subject of much conjecture. Much depends, of course, upon the volume of exports of our maturing crops. The promise of a plentiful corn crop and especially the flattering report of the cotton crop bureau are received with gratification on this account. Great importance is attached, also, to the ultimate effect of the Boer peace in awakening activity. in business and industry abroad. Aside France the harvest is almost due, and from the labor troubles and the future prices are advancing on an old preceneeds to be met by the money market, dent that in former times wet weather financial conditions are now almost without exception favorable to values. The undertone of firmness and confidence in the stock market is in accordance in the stock market is in accordance in the stock market is in accordance. There has been some liquidation of speculative bond issues, and an irreg-ular tone in that department of the assumption that the yield was to be

Surplus, $11,285,575; decrease, $643,425.

New York, June 7.-The Financier says: The official statement of the New York associated banks for last reek showed a decrease of $1,250,000 in cash, instead of an increase of $365,000 as was estimated on the basis of the traceable movements of money during the week. The loans were decreased $1,325,000. This change was expected as the result of the light business on the xchange during the week and because of important syndicate operations and of the distribution of dividends early in the week, these payments causing the liquidation of loans in which the dividend money had been temporarily employed. The deposits showed a decrease of $2,429,900, which amount very closely agreed with the total, with the decrease of loans and of cash. The required reserve was reduced $607,470, which sum, deducted from the loss of cash, leaves $643,425 as the decrease in surplus reserve, this item now standing at $11,285,575, against $13,341,500 at the corresponding date a year ago. The average daily clearings of the banks last week was $207,000,000, against $203,-000,000 in the previous week, indicating but a slight increase in the volume of business at this center. If this business shall continue small, as seems likely to be the case in the near future, the surplus of the banks, though com-paratively low, will doubtless be ample for all requirements. Comparisons of own banks of the week show a net loss of $3,800,000, and the only notable losses were by two institutions, one of which indicated a decrease of $1,700,000 and the other $1,800,000. The changes in the other $1,800,000. The changes in change a net gain by six banks cows, 3.50@5.00; stockers and feeders, the control of the change in the other $1,800,000. The changes in the other $1,800,000 and the other $1,80
